

BJGP RESEARCH CONFERENCE 2019

29 MARCH 2019 | RCGP, LONDON

Inspiring researchers and authors of the future

Following the huge success of our inaugural conference, the BJGP Research Conference returns for a second year. It's an exceptional opportunity for researchers at all stages of their careers to present their work in a constructive, peer-reviewed environment.

- A unique opportunity to acquire new research skills
- Receive constructive feedback on research presentations
- Hear from leading figures in primary care research
- Learn new skills in writing, critical appraisal, peer review and presentation
- Workshops on many aspects of writing and publishing research
- Poster presentations
- Meet the editors and staff of the BJGP and BJGP Open.

The conference will be preceded by a half day Research and Writing course, with workshops and masterclasses on topics including conducting and writing up qualitative research, using large databases in primary care research, and developing and validating new research measures.

Topics include:

- Building your research career
- Remaining buoyant in difficult times
- Research and the media
- Alternative metrics
- The role of social media in disseminating new research and changing practice.

Who should attend?

- GP trainees and newly qualified GPs
- Practising GPs with an interest in developing research skills
- Early-stage clinical and non-clinical academics in primary care
- More senior researchers wishing to hone or develop their presentation, writing and critical appraisal skills.

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION DEADLINE: 11 NOVEMBER 2018

Full details at bjgp.org/conference